Departmental Spotlight: Pentacrest Museums

The Pentacrest Museums encompass both museum at the center of campus, the Old Capitol Museum and the UI Museum of Natural History. With changing exhibits, campus and community programming, and historic research collections keeping science and art alive in their lab for students and researchers, UIPM is thriving.

Check out their latest installation on the ground floor of the Old Capitol Museum, the INTO LIGHT Project's exhibit Drug Addiction: Real People, Real Stories. This collection of portraits and narratives featuring Iowan's who lost their lives to Substance Abuse Disorder offers curricular connections all around campus and uses the power of art and storytelling to highlight our shared humanity. Open through December, with free admission, all are welcome. Instructors may schedule a class visit HERE.

Be sure to join in on a program this summer, like the Art & Write Night series at the Museum of Natural History on the first Friday of each month from 6-8 p.m. This popular program series invites folks to make the museum their muse using the gallery spaces after-hours to work on sketching or writing with other campus and community artists (professional, aspiring, and amateur, alike).

If you're not following the Pentacrest Museums on socials, you're missing out! On Instagram, @pentacrest.museums uses playfulness to get their museum messaging across, extending their community beyond the museum walls. Don't miss a chance to engage in the many ways these museums offer. Visit during open hours, schedule a tour, attend a program, or give them a "like" to expand your world on campus.
